Principles for strong passphrases

Create Long Passphrases

Aim to make your passphrases four or more random words, of at least 15 characters in total, whenever you can. For example, ‘red house sky train’, ‘sleep free hard idea’ or ‘crystal onion clay pretzel‘.

Create Unique Passphrases

Use a unique passphrase for every valuable account. Reusing a passphrase makes each account that uses it more vulnerable.

Create Unpredictible Passphrases

Using a random mix of unrelated words is far more unpredictable, and will produce a stronger passphrase. There are many ways to create a mix of random words.
